Dear Comrades,

57th Bank Nationalization Day - July 19th

July 19th marks a significant milestone in the history of Indian banking – the Bank Nationalisation Day. On this day in 1969, the Government of India nationalised 14 major banks, revolutionizing the banking sector and bringing financial services to the masses. As we commemorate this day, we pay tribute to the visionary leadership of our country's leaders who recognized the importance of banking in nation-building. Bank nationalisation played a crucial role in expanding banking services to rural areas, promoting financial inclusion, and supporting economic development.

Today, as bank pensioners and retirees, we remain committed to the ideals that led to bank nationalisation. We will continue to work towards ensuring the welfare of bank retirees, while also contributing to the growth and stability of the banking sector.

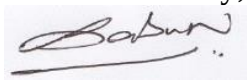

Let's Protect Public Sector Banks

We must oppose any attempts to privatize our national assets, interests of the nation, society and reaffirm our unwavering commitment to safeguarding Public Sector Banks. Any attempt to privatize these national assets would not only undermine the interests of bank employees and retirees but also have far-reaching and devastating consequences for the nation and society at large. It is imperative that we take our message to the people, making them understand that the threat of denationalization is not just a concern for bankers, but a pressing issue that affects the very fabric of our economy and the lives of millions.

Let us PLEDGE to protect bank nationalisation and to strive for a more inclusive and equitable banking system that serves the needs of all citizens. Wishing a Happy and Memorable Banks Nationalisation Day to you all !!

With warm regards,

Yours comradely,

K Suresh Babu
